

Deadline Set Back 2 Hours In Air Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five major airlines hit by the wildcat flight engineers strike agreed today to a two-hour extension of the deadline on their proposal to carry out no reprisals if the engineers returned to work.

Killer Of 4 Spared From Gas Chamber

BALTIMORE, Md. UPI — A federal jury today found jazz guitarist Melvin D. Rees Jr. guilty of the kidnap-slays of a Virginia housewife and her daughter, members of a massacred family of four.

The handsome, 32-year-old entertainer faces a maximum sentence of life imprisonment under the federal Lindbergh kidnaping law. The all-male jury did not specifically recommend the death sentence, thus sparing Rees execution in the gas chamber.

Rees was found guilty on two counts — kidnaping and failing to release the victims unharmed.

The jury deliberated five hours on 33 minutes on whether Rees was guilty. The kidnapings and subsequent grisly slayings were one of the nation's major crime mysteries of 1959. The jurors reached their verdict half an hour after resuming deliberations following an overnight recess.

Technically he was charged with the 1959 kidnap-slaying of Mrs. Mildred Jackson, 27-year-old Apple Grove, Va., housewife, and her five year old daughter Susan Ann.

But the prosecution based its case on the belief that the handsome, dark-haired one-time University of Maryland student also had killed the father of the family, Carroll Jackson, and his 18-month-old infant daughter Janet.

The strangled and beaten bodies of Mrs. Jackson and the elder daughter were found in a remote farm area near Gambrills, Md. The bodies of Jackson and Janet were found on a sawdust heap near Fredericksburg, Va.

The government charged that after slaying the father and infant, Rees abducted the mother and daughter from Virginia to (Continued on Page 3, Col. 6)

Good Evening!

Clouds hanging low.

Atmosphere full of drizzle with fog to follow before the morning. At least, the last of the snow is disappearing and chances are that the sun will be shining again—some day.

We know. Some of the streets and highways pretty awful as rain and milder weather cause them to practically disintegrate.

They're tough on automobiles, dispositions. But maybe we'd better hold our fire until state and municipal highway folks get a chance to get on the job in earnest. Remember, this has been the longest, coldest, snowiest winter in memory.

And we're not alone in our highway miseries. If you disbelieve, take a drive around Burlington County, Montgomery County, and a lot of other neighboring precincts.

Bucks County promoted.

We're now a third class county, climbing up the ladder from fifth, and while the impact of change probably won't be earth-shattering, it does mean we're in the big-time class.

We guess even Governor Lawrence can't sidestep due process of the law. Remember his political end-play nearly two months ago when he conveniently "delayed" the proper certification?

Maybe he's learning. You can fool some of the people some of the time, etc., etc., etc.

Politics really warming up in Bucks, by the way. Better than 3,000 petitions being circulated by aspirants for county, township, borough and school board office.

All lines forming to the right. Interesting spring, summer and fall ahead.

Ancestral pride: A matter of going forward by backing up.

A perfectionist is the fellow who chooses a picnic site as if it were to be a permanent home.

Picnic site? Only three more weeks of groundhog weather. It won't be long.

Drive carefully, please.

300 Urge Further Study Of Bucks Junior College

Among those who attended a meeting last night to help establish a Community Junior College in Bucks County were (left to right), Falls Township School Board member James Smith, chairman of a special committee on study for the college; Dr. George Raab, county superintendent of schools; Otto Plequette, president, Pennsbury Secondary Schools PTA; Dr. Paul Phillips, superintendent of Morrisville Schools and president of Bucks County Superintendents Association; and Richard Currier, assistant regional superintendent in charge of secondary education of Pennsbury Schools. (Courier-Times Photo)

Enthusiastic Group Adopts Resolution

A Community Junior College for Bucks County moved one step closer toward realization last night as a resolution to further study the feasibility of such a college was adopted.

At a general meeting attended by prominent state, school, and local officials, the resolution presented by J. Harrison Wilson, member of the Pennsbury Secondary Schools PTA, was approved by overwhelming applause from the more than 300 persons attending.

The meeting was held in the auditorium of the new Charles H. Boehm High School, Lower Makefield.

Dr. Lester F. Johnson, principal speaker and state director of higher education in Pennsylvania, said that "Pennsylvania is one of 10 states that has not passed legislation for a junior college." He added that "32 states in the United States have state-sponsored or state-sponsored junior colleges."

"Let's combine our resources," he told the audience, "to make possible a better education for our children in Bucks County."

Officials Attending

Among the important officials attending were State Senator Marvin Keller, State Representatives Margarette S. Kooker, James J. A. Gallagher, and Alan D. Williams, all of Bucks County; Dr. George Raab, county superintendent of schools; Dr. Henry Parcinski, president, Trenton Junior College; and Dr. Paul Phillips, president of the Bucks County Superintendents Association.

Also Dr. Charles S. Muschell, regional superintendent of Pennsbury Schools; W. Russell Massey, general chairman of Community Junior College Conference, and James Smith, chairman of special committee on study for the new junior college.

Committee Established

The resolution adopted at the meeting, among other things would establish a 25-man committee which would study enrollment needs, finances, staffing, facilities and curriculum offerings for the college. The resolution was drawn up by Dr. Charles S. Muschell, regional superintendent of Pennsbury Schools.

Indicating the need in Bucks County for a junior college, Dr. Henry Parcinski, president of Trenton Junior College, explained that last year his college "refused 100 admissions and at the same time admitted 75 students from Bucks County."

He also stated that he does not know how much longer Trenton Junior College will be able to handle the over-load of students from Bucks County as the number of students from their own state continues to grow.

Keller 'Very Happy'

"I'll be very happy to support a junior college program," said State Senator Marvin Keller, "and we will be glad to help establish (Continued on Page 3, Col. 2)

Kennedy Asks Vast Program For Resources

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy sent Congress today a vast natural resources program to protect and develop the nation's lifeblood supplies of water, land, forests and minerals.

Kennedy put into a special message proposals ranging from purification of big city air to the de-salting of ocean water for drinking and industrial use.

He warned that unless wise broad-scale action is taken "we will be in trouble within a short time."

In setting forth reclamation and other water resources recommendations, Kennedy pointedly denounced the "No new starts" policy Democrats have attributed to the Eisenhower administration.

"Such a policy denied the resource requirements and potential on which our economic growth hinges, and took a heavy toll in added costs and even human life and postponing essential flood control projects," Kennedy said.

The President announced actions his administration would take and said what he would like Congress to do. Administration officials said no price tag could be affixed to the over-all program until legislation is proposed for specific programs.

Involves Many Millions

In its broad framework, it was obvious that many hundreds of millions of dollars would be involved. For example, Kennedy called for enactment of legislation "along the general lines" of a bill which would provide $1.25 billion over 10 years to expand federal (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

It'll Be Warmer, Rain To Stay

Its going to get warmer tomorrow and the mercury might even top the 60 mark, the weatherman said today.

Occasional rain or drizzle is expected to hang around these parts throughout the night. Occasional showers are predicted for tomorrow.

The temperature today shouldn't go much beyond the 50 mark, the local forecaster said.

Group Studies Emergency Aid For Idle

Community Services Council, an arm of United Fund of Bucks County, is making emergency plans to help the unemployed of Lower Bucks.

Col. C. D. Rayborn, chairman of the council, called a meeting yesterday to discuss plans to declare a moratorium on mortgages, set up a food distribution point as soon as a location can be obtained, and provide free lunches for children of the unemployed.

Leaders of industry, commerce and civic organizations took part in the meeting at the Tullytown Fire House.

Col. Rayborn appointed a committee to plan the proposed program.

The group will meet again to report the progress of the past 48 hours, tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in the Tullytown Fire House.

Power Appalled At Commissioner's Conduct 2nd GOP Candidate For D. A. Spurns Support By Boyer

A second Republican candidate for Bucks County district attorney today spurned the support of Bucks County Commissioner Edward B. Boyer in seeking the endorsement of the county GOP executive committee in the May 16 primary elections.

He is William M. Power, 43-year-old Doylestown attorney, who issued a statement declaring "I am an anti-Boyer candidate."

District Attorney Paul R. Beckert on Tuesday had said he would withdraw his application to the GOP screening committee, which holds its first meeting tomorrow night, unless the GOP executive committee should remove Boyer as a committee member.

Boyer is an ex-officio member as a county commissioner under section three of the bylaws.

Milder Tone

Power, in a somewhat milder tone, said he is not insisting "that overnight Mr. Boyer be expelled, but said he would repudiate any endorsement from Boyer."

Beckert conducted the prosecution of Boyer on charges of extortion, bribery and conspiracy relating to alleged demands of more than $8,000 from operators of discount houses for immunity from arrest for opening their stores Sundays.

A Bucks County Criminal Court jury on Jan. 31 found Boyer innocent and ordered him to pay the costs. Power attended the trial as attorney for the main Commonwealth witness, Elmer "Butch" Bauso, operator of Butch's Auction. Bauso testified under immunity that Boyer demanded and took $150 a week from him.

Middletown Squabble

Board Finds Going Rough Over Roads

By DAN STUDEBAKER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The pothole-ridden course of Oxford Valley Road provided a highway to electioneering politics last night as Middletown Township Supervisors squared off over responsibility for the road's condition.

Walter Farley Jr., Democratic minority member of the three man board, read a letter from Park H. Martin, state highways secretary, to a Cobalt Ridge Civic Association member, which stated that the highway would be repaired as soon as the snow season ends.

The letter, to Leonard Biber, of 33 Canoe Birch Road, also said that charges by Patrick Shields, supervisors' chairman, that the state administration was neglecting the road because the township government has a Republican majority was "absolutely false."

Farley quoted Martin as saying the state highway department is in no way persuaded by the politics of any township or county in programming its work. "We try to do it on the basis of need and availability of funds," the letter said.

National Council Of Churches

Protestant Group Approves Use Of Birth Control Devices

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—The nation's largest Protestant church group approved overwhelmingly today an historic first policy statement approving the use of birth control devices as a part of Christian responsibility in family planning.

The pronouncement approved by the general board of the National Council of Churches also called for opposition to laws and institutional practices restricting the information or availability of contraceptives, a move seen as a rallying point for Protestants in Massachusetts and Connecticut to seek repeal of restrictive state laws.

The pronouncement also recommended that the federal government be prepared to provide birth control information and assistance to any other government which might request it in the interest of population control.

The council condemned abortion as a means of birth control but gave tentative approval to voluntary sterilization pointing out, however, that it is hazardous and should be used "only after the most thoughtful consideration of all the factors involved."

The vote in the 250 member general board was 83 in favor, none against. Four abstained. The vote was taken after a minor amendment during floor discussion of a draft resolution.

More than 100 members of the board were unable to reach Syracuse because of the airlines strike. This accounted for the low vote in the 250 member general board.

The most substantial question raised from the floor involved a paragraph condemning abortion and resulted only in an addition indicating that further study was needed of the ethical problem of abortion in relation to "abnormal circumstances."

The pronouncement was drafted as a consensus of Protestant opinion; at least seven of the council's member churches, representing two-thirds of the constituent church membership, had previously issued similar endorsements of birth control. Eastern Orthodox churches abstained from formulation or action on the policy statement, in preparation for more than a year.

"One fundamental affirmation of the Protestant consensus is that motives rather than means form the primary ethical issue in regard to family limitation," said one of the drafters of the pronouncement. "If the motives are right, there is considerable latitude as to appropriate means."

Requires Decisions
Responsible parenthood requires specific moral and ethical decisions of each couple on family planning, the pronouncement said. Spokesmen said there were some instances in which a couple might properly decide to have no children, but the draft resolution cautioned couples to "remember that having children is a venture in faith, requiring a measure of courage and confidence in God's goodness. Too cautious a reckoning of the costs may be as great an error as failure to lift the God-given power of procreation to the level of ethical decision."

Snow, Rain Floods, Fog Cover Nation

By United Press International
A blinding snowstorm barreled down east slopes of the Rockies into the upper Great Plains today where it met a rain cover across 22 eastern states.

In the South, the Weather Bureau at Montgomery, Ala., said floodwaters from swollen creeks and overtaxed sewers were approaching the "critical stage," and Louisiana's flood threat turned to the gorged Bogus Lake Creek north of New Orleans.

Rain and snow were divided along a giant cold front that sliced out of eastern Canada across Lake Huron into northern Illinois. Fog along the front contributed to two fatal plane crashes at Rockford, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa.

The cold front leveled off in Kansas and Utah north of balmier weather in the Southwest. Stiff winds lifted Los Angeles' smog and lifeguards worked overtime at crowded southern California beaches.

The Pacific Northwest enjoyed its first clear coastal weather in days. The mercury rose to 62 at Seattle and little rain was in sight west of Idaho.

The Weather Bureau foresaw little relief from eastern rains that extended from Florida west into the Mississippi Valley and north through New York state.

In Alabama, Gov. John Patterson Wednesday called the flood situation "alarming" and recalled National Guard troops for emergency duty at Birmingham. More than 1,200 persons left their homes at Birmingham, 100 at Northport and 72 at Tuscaloosa.

U.S. Steel Cuts Benefits For Idle

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — U. S. Steel Corp. has been forced to cut supplemental unemployment benefits by another 7.5 per cent in February because of the heavy drain on the firm's SUB fund.

The cutback lowers benefits for idle workers to 52.5 per cent. Supplemental unemployment benefits, combined with state jobless benefits, are designed to give furloughed workers 60 per cent of his normal take home pay.

Withdrawals Cut Troops In Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold sought 7,000 soldiers today to beef up the United Nations force in the Congo to 20,000 men.

Helicopters Rescue 14 Fishermen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Two helicopters hovered over an ice floe in Lake Erie off Colchester, Ontario, last night and picked up 14 ice fishermen, who were stranded on the ice when it broke loose.

Provincial police at Colchester called Coast Guard headquarters here at 6:57 p.m. to report the men were stranded on the ice, which was moving toward clear water in the Pigeon Bay area in Canada. An east-southeast wind up to 24 miles per hour was pushing the floe.

The helicopters, one from Grosse Ile, Mich., Naval Air Station, and one from Selfridge, Mich., Air Force Base, were dispatched along with an amphibious plane and two cutters from here.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the men "in all probability were ice fishermen." They were rescued by the helicopters, via rescue baskets, about an hour after the call was received here.

The spokesman said that it wasn't too unusual for ice fishermen to become stranded on the ice, "particularly during the early winter and the beginning of spring." He said the men sometimes go too far out on the ice and it breaks off under their weight.

There was no immediate indication where he would find them. Malaya has said it would contribute 800 troops, India is considering giving some manpower and Japan is talking about sending "observers."

But the Congo operation has become such a touchy political matter that most African and Asian countries are trying to keep from getting involved.

Hammarskjold had the U. N. force up to nearly 20,000 the first of this year but withdrawals by the United Arab Republic, Morocco, Indonesia, Guinea and Yugoslavia will reduce it to a little more than 13,000 men by March 1.

Hammarskjold held a broad review of the situation in a long meeting Wednesday with representatives of the 18 nations that originally donated troops to the Congo force—his Congo advisory committee.

Out of it came a blunt note to be sent to Belgium—and softer ones to be sent to other nations—demanding compliance with the Security Council's order that all foreign military and political personnel not attached to the U. N. force get out of the Congo.

The advisory committee arranged to meet again with Hammarskjold this afternoon for the third day in a row.

Son Smothers Dad In 'Act Of Mercy, Loyalty'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — For Rollo Elmer Bunch, life centered mainly around a TV set, an auto and a son.

At 83, the incapacities of age had reduced Bunch's joys to an occasional ride with his son and to watching the wonders of TV in the neat apartment he shared with his son.

The car had been repossessed last week for nonpayment, but life for the old man still was comfortable, mainly because of TV and the untiring affection his son gave him.

Dale Elden Bunch, 49, was anything but comfortable. His despair was rooted in the recession which cost him his work as a locksmith and was about to result in repossession of all his furniture — including his father's beloved TV set.

Bunch on Monday, after long thought, took what he considered to be the ultimate act of love and mercy by placing a pillow over his father's head and suffocating him. Thirty-six hours later he shot himself in the head. He died late yesterday at General Hospital.

Dale Bunch never regained consciousness from the self-inflicted gunshot wound Monday night, and so he was unable to tell police how those 36 hours from his father's death to his own self-destruction were occupied.

But a four-page typewritten note left to "whom it will concern" spoke eloquently of what passed through his mind during that time and the motives—some will say distorted—which moved him.

Bunch wrote that he gave his father 30 sleeping pills, telling him they were laxatives, and after the old man was sound asleep the son "gently placed it (a pillow) firmly" on his face until he stopped breathing.

"...it was an act of mercy—good instead of evil. I suppose I could never have done this act if it had not been for my complete loyalty to one I love."

life Saturday as principal speaker at a Republican dinner at the Fiesta Restaurant, Route 13, Edgington.

William J. Veitch Jr., assistant county GOP chairman, today said that the $10 a plate dinner was being held not to honor Boyer but to raise funds for the Lower Bucks County Republican Association for use in the May primaries.

"This is not a victory dinner for Ed Boyer," Veitch said, but added that Boyer was booked as principal speaker to act as a drawing card.

Not Victory Dinner

"I would consider Boyer the top political figure in the county today," Veitch said. "I feel the people of Lower Bucks would like to hear what he has to say." The assistant chairman said that it would not be in good taste to consider the dinner a victory dinner.

Eight Endorsed Candidates Picked By Bensalem GOP

The Bensalem Township Republican Committee has endorsed eight candidates for municipal office, it was announced today by Charles Riempp, chairman.

Riempp said the committee, composed of the 18 district committeemen and women, made its selections after interviewing all persons who showed an interest in running for the positions.

Truck, Auto Crash Injures Two In Falls

Two Trenton residents were injured in a rear-end collision in Falls Township about 9:30 a.m. today.

Undergoing treatment at Lower Bucks County Hospital are Chester Bachetti, 45, 235 Furman St. and Dominic Bachetti, 46, 128 Liberty St.

Chester was x-rayed for possible chest and rib injuries and Dominic was x-rayed for possible spine and leg injuries. Hospital spokesmen said the extent of the injuries could not be determined until the x-rays are analyzed.

According to Falls Township Police, the two men were passengers in a car travelling on Route 1 towards Philadelphia driven by John R. Allard, 36, of Philadelphia.

Police said the auto was stopped at a traffic signal at the intersection of Route 1 and Olds Blvd. when a tractor truck driven by Paul Livingston Jr., 36, struck Allard's car in the rear.

Investigating Officers Wallace McCamish and George Mitchell said the truck driver applied his brakes but skidded on the wet road and into the Allard vehicle.

The injured men were taken to the hospital by the Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad. Allard was not hurt.

That's not a new store, on Mill St. and Wood in Bristol, although everything about it is new.

It's McCrory's, with a $100,000 renovation and alterations.

The local branch of the national chain will celebrate its remodeling at special ceremonies at 9:30 tomorrow morning with Burgess Anthony R. Niccoletti, Murray C. Hotchkiss, executive vice-president and co-publisher of the Courier-Times, and other officials and business leaders present.

The store has a new, modern pressed-brick front, new self-service counters inside, air-conditioning and a complete re-do.

National officials of the chain also will be present for the ceremony, including M. F. Hill, vice-president of the McCrory Corp. The chain, officially known as the McCrory-McLellan stores, has 451 branches in 36 states and dates back to 1882.

Board Finds White House Staff To Keep Lips Sealed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—All of President and Mrs. Kennedy's personal staff have signed documents promising not to sell or tell any details of their relationships with the First Family, the White House disclosed today.

The ban came out indirectly as reporters questioned press secretary Pierre Salinger about reports that Mrs. Kennedy had attempted to hire a cook, Bui Van Han, from the French Embassy in London. The White House said this report was inaccurate because, after the inauguration, the President and his wife found the existing White House staff was excellent and no new cook needed.

Salinger was asked to identify the White House chef who was held over from the Eisenhower administration. But he declined, saying he understood it was traditional not to give out the name of the man so employed.

A reporter observed that this anonymity lasted "until a cook or a valet decides to sell his story to a magazine."

Salinger quickly interjected that all members of the personal staff had signed documents since Jan. 20 promising "that they won't sell their stories to magazines or other publications." Those signing the documents included domestic help at the White House, most of whom are government civil service employees, and Mrs. Kennedy's three secretaries.

Asked whether the "documents" covered telling their stories without being paid, Salinger said, "they agreed not to discuss any of their personal relationships with the President or Mrs. Kennedy."

Veteran reporters knew of no parallel in the past for this documentary agreement.

2 Families Injures One

A motorist was listed in fair condition at Mercer County Hospital today, following an auto accident in Falls Township shortly before 6 o'clock last night.

Sheldon L. Soskin, 30, Philadelphia, was treated for bruises of the thumb, left arm and chest last night, x-rayed and kept in the hospital for observation, a hospital spokesman said.

According to Falls Township police, Soskin was driving towards Philadelphia on Route 1. As he approached the Dearden Buick parking lot, a car driven by John L. Kopack, 23, 1916 Trenton Ave., Bristol, traveling on Route 1 in the opposite direction, turned left in front of him, in an attempt to drive into the car lot, police reported.

Soskin's vehicle struck Kopack's and was knocked into a parked sports car, police said. Investigators said Soskin's car was a total loss.

Kopack was issued a summons for reckless driving by Officers Hugh McCue and William M. Kershaw.

2nd GOP Candidate Spurns Boyer Support

Bucks County Republican Party that overnight Mr. Boyer be expelled after he carefully had solidified his position in the party over a period of seven years. It will take much hard work to get rid of Mr. Boyer," Power said, "but I am willing to use my time and energies toward that end."

"When I seek the endorsement of the Republican Party I am not seeking endorsement or approval by Mr. Boyer, or any of his like, and if my endorsement should in any way, directly or indirectly be attributed to Boyer, I would repudiate that endorsement."

Good Government

Power said that he is "seeking the support and approval of the traditional Bucks County Republicans who have given good government to the county in the past, who always have, and always will, stand for honesty and integrity and who, like myself, are appalled by the conduct of Mr. Boyer."

Beckert on Tuesday demanded that county GOP chairman Fred E. Ziegler call a special meeting of the GOP executive committee to remove Boyer from that committee. Ziegler today said he would not call such a meeting and added merely that Beckert's application is still before the committee which will start its meetings tomorrow.

Needs Committee Approval

Another executive committee member pointed out that an amendment of the bylaws ending Boyer's membership would require approval of the entire Republican County Committee, consisting of all Republican committee men and women of Bucks County.

The two other Republican candidates for district attorney did not attach such restrictions to their acceptance of endorsement. They are William R. Cameron Jr., Southampton, and Harold Patton, Levittown. Cameron, at the Boyer trial, represented Paul Shuster, manager of a Bargain City Store, who testified, under immunity, that he collected $300 each week to be given to Boyer as "political contributions."

Will Accept

Cameron declared this morning I have nothing personal for or against Mr. Boyer. I don't know him that well and at this point have no idea of whether or not he would endorse me. I intend to go before the screening committee and if I get the endorsement of the committee I will accept it.

Patton said he saw "no reason to change my position because of Mr. Beckert's statement. I intend to go before the screening committee and would be happy to accept the endorsement of the executive committee."

"As far as Mr. Boyer's vote is concerned I am viewing the executive committee as a whole and not thinking in terms of one vote."

Plane Strike

Feinsinger, a law professor at the University of Wisconsin, said he was operating on the assumption the strike would end today. But he said the only basis he had for it was "a general feeling of optimism."

The airlines claim the strike is costing them $5 million a day, and nearly 100,000 other non-striking workers have been laid off due to the strike.

Their walkout was touched off by a National Mediation Board ruling last Feb. 6 which ordered United Air Lines flight engineers and pilots to vote for a single union.

The flight engineers said this would mean their union would be swallowed by the larger Air Lines Pilots Association and they would lose both jobs and seniority.

U.S. Gold Sales Drop

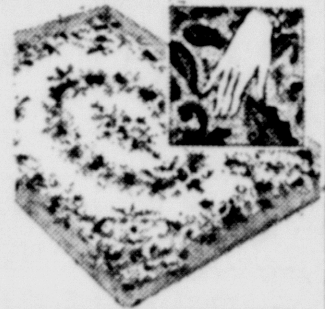

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sales of U.S. gold have fallen off sharply since Inauguration Day. Treasury officials give much of the credit to President Kennedy's approach to the gold-and-dollar drain problem.

In the first four weeks of the Kennedy administration gold sales totaled $115 million dollars. In the preceding month, under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, gold sales amounted to $437 million and $334 million in the month before that.
